Tuesday, December 27, 2011 FATTORI WINES ROCK" by Philip S. Kampe

The FATTORI family from Terrossa di Ronca, a town in the SOAVE region has been producing wine for three generations. The winery is located at the mouth of the ALPONE VALLEY in northeast Italy.

Located on 75 acres, the FATTORI family produces a variety of wines that include the grapes: GARGANEGA, PINOT GRIGIO and SAUVIGNON BLANC.

The goal of the vineyard is to produce wines that are FRESH and FRUITY with BALANCED ACIDITY and GOOD BODY.

The vines face southeast at an altitude of 700 feet. The soil is volcanic in origin and is mixed with rocks and Terra Rossa (red clay). The clay helps maintain the humidity, even in the summer months, when rain is scarce.

ANTONIO FATTORI has been the winemaker since 1970. His love for TRADITION and VIBRANT wines shows well in all of his wines.

The SOAVE CLASSICO RUNCARIS 2010 has an intense greenish yellow color with aromas of peach and pear. On the palate, apple and almond dominate this crisp, well balanced wine. The GARGANEGA grape in this wine is both pleasing and agreeable.

SOAVE CLASSICO DANIELI 2010 is a white wine made with the GARGANEGA grape. Straw in color, this DOC wine has intense odors of pineapple and pear. The palate explodes with hints of plum, almond and peach.
