> BEST CELLARS: 2011 PROMISES TO BE A BIG YEAR FOR SOAVE IN THE US BY: CATHLEEN K. BODE

> In London, Antonio Fattori proudly accepted the award for best single varietal wine under £10 at Decanter's World Wine Awards 2010. His 2008 Fattori Motto Piane Soave DOC beat out 11,000 entries from throughout the world for the honor.

The Fattori winery was established in 1888 in Terrossa on the hills east of Verona. Its production is rooted in the quest to strike an ideal balance between a respect for tradition and a respect for innovation.

This award is the culmination of generations of experience and long-term investments in new vineyards, the revitalization of old vineyards, winery equipment and low-temperature fermentation techniques.

The Garganega destined for Motto Piane is grown at 300 meters above sea level in the volcanic soils of Monte Calvarina. The grapes are dried for a month before pressing to concentrate Garganega's unique characteristics. Separated into three lots, fermentation takes place in large casks, tonneaux and steel. These wines are then artfully blended before bottling. The resulting wine is balanced with exotic stone fruit flavors and subtle, honeyed notes of marzipan.

"I believe in the potential of Garganega," says Antonio Fattori, "and I have always had the desire to create and experiment in an effort to unite scientific method and innovation with our historic traditions. We are dedicated to the search for more vibrant and attractive wines with the characteristic aromas and body of Soave."
